

Scenario 1: Exploring Events for the Weekend

Background:

You are a student at RPI and want to attend a fun event this weekend to relax and connect with others on campus. You're using the EventHub platform to explore what's happening.

Instructions:

1. Open <https://rpieventhub.com>.
2. Find an event that is happening this upcoming weekend and that you are interested in attending.
3. Use any available filters, tags, or navigation tools to explore events.

Think Aloud Prompts:

- What is your first impression of the homepage?
- What are you looking for to help narrow your search?
- Was anything surprising or unclear in how the information was presented?

Scenario 2: RSVP to an Event

Background:

Now that you've found an event you're interested in, you want to RSVP to it so the organizers know to expect you.

Instructions:

1. On the event page you found in Scenario 1, look for a way to RSVP.
2. Complete the RSVP process as you would in real life.

Think Aloud Prompts:

- Is the RSVP option clearly visible?
- Are you confident that your RSVP was recorded?
- Did anything confuse or slow you down?

Scenario 3: Creating an Event as a Club Leader

Background:

You're the leader of an RPI club and need to create an event on EventHub to promote an upcoming activity. This is your first time posting an event on the platform.

Instructions:

1. Navigate through the EventHub site as a club leader.
2. Try to find and begin the process to create a new event.

Think Aloud Prompts:

- Where did you expect to find the event creation feature?
- Was the process intuitive or confusing?
- What do you think happens next after this step?

Scenario 4: Finding a Professional Development Event

Background:

You're interested in attending a workshop or event that can help you prepare for internships or future careers.

Instructions:

1. Use filters, tags, or search functionality to locate a professional development-related event.

Think Aloud Prompts:

- What keywords or tags did you try?
- Were the results relevant to what you expected?
- Did anything make it harder than expected to find a useful event?

Scenario 5: Sharing an Event with a Friend

Background:

You found an interesting event and want to share the link with a friend so they can RSVP too.

Instructions:

1. On any event page, locate the option to share the event.
2. Copy the link or attempt to share it via the available methods.

Think Aloud Prompts:

- How did you expect the sharing feature to work?
- Was the sharing process smooth and clear?
- What would make this feature easier to use?
